KONYA

Konya is located within the Central Anatolian Region. Konya is neighbored by Ankara, Isparta, Afyonkarahisar, Eskişehir, İçel, Karaman, Antalya, Niğde and Aksaray provinces. Extending on a very vast land of 38,257 km , Konya occupies almost 5% of the overall country territory.

Konya, which is one of the oldest settlements of the history of humanity by having served as the Capital of the Anatolian Seljuk once upon a time and known as the most trading and accommodation center of the historical Silk Road. Konya also hosts Mevlana and introduces herself to the world as the city of affection, friendship and tolerance.

Konya which is geographically the largest city and six largest city of Türkiye in terms of population, influences and drives the region which it has been settled in economic, political and social facets.

Since the 1970s, Konya experienced a development campaign in every area of business. Following early investments in food-related industries (such as flour, macaroni, candies, feed and etc.), other factories have followed suit. Today, there are medium to large-sized factories in the vegetable oil, rubber, plastics, shoe manufacturing and other sectors.

Konya has become successful in economic development with its equity capital. Konya, with the developed Organized Industry Zones and the small industry sites accommodate lots of Small and Medium Sized Enterprises (SMEs) and these enterprises create an important potential for employment.

KONYA CONSTRUCTION SECTOR

The construction sector is one of the most dynamic and driving forces of Türkiye's economy, and Konya plays an important role in this industry with its growing potential and strategic location.

Konya's industrial structure supports the construction sector with approximately 2,000 companies operating in construction, building materials production, infrastructure services, engineering, and project development. The sector employs more than 20,000 people directly and indirectly in the region.

Konya construction sector stands out with competitive pricing, qualified workforce, export capability, flexible production, and a strong supplier network. The sector continues to develop its capacity with modern techniques, urban transformation projects, and sustainable construction approaches.

Today, Konya's construction industry exports a wide range of building materials and construction systems to various regions of the world. Konya companies serve several fields including residential and commercial construction, infrastructure and road projects, public housing, and agricultural buildings. Major products and services offered include:

- |                                   |   |  |  |

About Us

It was established in 1997, we succeeded to build a group of companies all joined together in one mission: "To identify and successfully meet the requirements of growing stone market, worldwide". How? "With quality, experience, flexibility and dynamism". This approach combined with extraordinary product quality has led to remarkable yearly increases in production and sales. As a result in rather short time we have become one of the major American and European suppliers for Turkish Natural Stone. We established a firm cooperation with the Turkish largest marble/travertine quarries and built a network of stockyards, subsidiary firms and representatives to assure the excellence of our products and the superior quality of our service.
